LIBERTY.

Misses Lucy Bowman and Lizzie Phillips visited friend at Hustonville a few days ago.

Mr. James Craddock, of Watertown, Tenn., was here last week.

Theodore Powell and C. B. Epperson, of Jopka, passed through Sunday enroute for Stanford.

Mr. Gili Cowen, of Hustonville, was with us a few days ago.

Jas. Garrott, Jr., C. H. Marrell, W. Hudson and W. J. Page, of Columbia, were here recently.

Adair Montgomery, of Jopka, visited his mother here Sunday.

Jas. Gibney, C. G. Jeffries, T. J. Bell and W. L. Stagg attended the horse sale at Hustonville.

Mr. Josh Stone, who holds a government position in Washington, is visiting his many friends here.

Miss Bettie Wilkerson, an accomplished young lady of this place, is visiting friends in Bradfordville, Lebanon and Louisville.

C. W. and John Campbell, Creelsboro, passed through here last week with a nice drove of cattle, bound for the Cincinnati market.

Horace Alexander and Jo B. Young, of Burlington, were here with a nice bunch of cattle enroute for Harrodsburg last week.

The Tarter & White Show were here Friday night in life size. Everybody enjoyed it fine.

The people of this community were somewhat excited last week over the appearance of mad dog, which was soon sent to dog heaven.

C. C. Carson, C. G. Jeffries, R. B. Wilkerson and W. M. Moore attended court at Stanford Monday.

Jo Jordan, of Atlanta, Ga., brought this place one horse, of Dr. Jay Wesley, one horse, $100; of Logan Chapman, one horse, $75; of C. G. Jeffries, one horse, $80; of Gibney & Jeffries, 5 horses, $450; Gibney & Jeffries bought of Jo Jordan, one horse for $125; also one horse of F. P. and C. C. Combest, $85.

SOMERSET.

Mr. Abner Jones, of Jamestown, is clerking at the Barker Hotel.

Mr. Etile Baugh, of Jamestown, was stopping at W. L. Dowell's last week, on his return home from Cincinnati.

Messrs. C. L. Winfrey, O. B. Vaughn and Clarence Owens had quite a successful squirrel hunt, (successful to the squirrels). They arose Friday morning in time to wake the rooster up, ordered a double rig from Winfrey & Woodridge's lively stable, carried a basket of lunch and proceeded to the woods, where they were successful in killing and skinning two squirrels. As Friday is an unlucky day we would advise the hunting party to select some other day next time.

Mr. Joel Woodridge made a flying trip to Jamestown last week.

Mr. Clarence Owens was stopping at C. L. Winfrey's Thursday night.

It will be sometime before the college is completed.

A protracted meeting has been in progress at the Baptist church, conducted by Rev. Hale.

There will be another show on the night of the 14th, "A Night On Broadway." The company consists of forty in number.

HE APPRECIATED WATER.

Senator Blackburn, of Kentucky, poured out a glass of ice water and drank it with evident satisfaction.

"There isn't anything quite so good as water, after all," quoth Blackburn, "which by the way," he added, "reminds me of a story."

"Down in Kentucky," began Mr. Blackburn, "there was a farmer, who strange to say, did not know the taste of whisky. One day at Christmas time he was at a neighbor's house and was invited to sample a mixture of cream, lemon, sugar and other ingredients, commonly known as egg-nog. He sipped, then drank, then drained several mugs. When he started to go home he felt curious. It's an insidious drink, you know, and when he got home, he went to bed. The next morning he awoke thirsty. Breaking the thin of covering of ice on the water bucket out on the porch, he took one long drink.

"Mandy, Mandy, come here and bring the children," he shouted, "I never tasted such water in my life."

THE ASSASSIN HUNT.

I am sitting to-night in the room of "The Little Red Building" where the bloody murder of William Goebel is said to have been planned and arranged. I saw the grave of the victim in the Frankfort cemetery this afternoon—still unmarked by stone or scroll and undistinguishable from hundreds of others, save by those who loved him in life and yet seek out his resting-place in death. The further the public mind gets away from this assassination, the more brutal, cold-blooded and horrible the crime stands out.

One or two things are certain: William Goebel was either killed in a cool, human determination to defeat his election to the governorship at all costs and hazards, or his murder was the culmination of a damnable conspiracy, to rid the state of him, that certain interests joined hands with the republicans in carrying to its tragic ending. Of William Goebel himself there is only a sorrowful memory, and the duty that justice owes to the good name of the state. Out of those who compassed his death and slew the man they could neither use nor intimidate only one—a weak fool behind the least guilty of a score—is probably the bars. But the end is not yet. Mark these words, and see what the next twelve months bring forth. The man-hunt, the assassin-hunt, the hunt for the murderers of William Goebel, has not yet really begun. Ere the snow flies before advancing spring, there will be a rattling of dry-bones that will shake the commonwealth from one end to the other, and the world will stand aghast at the horrors of the tale that is told. Men in high places will pray for the mountains to fall upon, or fire to the mountain to save them, and the long arm of stern, unrelenting justice will reach up and drag them down to the doom awaiting them, and that should be meted out to all criminals. There will be much and grave business transacted in the Fourteenth Judicial District in the next good year of our Lord, and Bob Franklin, the brilliant, eloquent prosecutor, and Judge Cantrell, the inflexible but just and able judge, will be busy men. Praise God, they are equal to the great work before them—From J. M. Richardson's Frankfort Letter in Glasgow Times.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Georgia elected a solid delegation of 11 Democratic Congressmen.

Senator Gorman, of Maryland, is being very favorably mentioned as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President.

It is believed that but for the plank in the New York platform favoring government ownership of the coal fields that State would have gone Democratic.

North Carolina made a solid Democratic delegation to the next Congress, and the election of a Democratic Legislature insures a Democratic successor to President.

There will be twenty-nine more members in the next Congress than the last one. Of these the Democrats appear to have gained twenty-six. The Republican majority will be 22.

The Philadelphia Record says: "There is a significant increase of the Democratic vote all along the line in New England with a Democratic Governor in the Republican fortress of Rhode Island."

ARRIVALS ON THE FARM.

The story is going the rounds about a printer who recently tried his hand at farming, but couldn't make it work right and is now back at the case. He had a "wrong foot" team, a horse and a mule, and this would not "justify," he said the farmer "dicked" him after he had "pled" three or four "columns" of potatoes, and his experience in agricultural pursuits came to an abrupt end when he asked the farmer's wife whether she wanted the team set "loaded or solid."

As a result of the election Democrats will be found on the Congressional delegations from California, Michigan, Wisconsin and Maryland, which have been widely Republican since 1896, Delaware also sends a Democrat instead of a Republican Governor for a Democratic one.

Rev. C. E. W. Dubbs, who recently resigned a pastorate in Indiana to edit the Harrodsburg Democrat, has given up journalism and will resume a ministry.

AND NOW FOR KENTUCKY.

Now that the Fall elections are over and the political season of 1902 is a thing of the past, Kentucky and the Kentuckians will begin to prepare for the State campaign of 1903.

What the Republicans expect to do, or not to do, concerns us little; for the Republican party has made a wretched mess of its opportunities, and, as matters stand, is unlikely to show up for a long time within the bounds of the dark and bloody ground, except as a purveyor of outside pressure and a dispenser of Federal patronage.

For the present at least, the Democrats have a sure thing; and, as the Courier-Journal would confirm, and prouder this may, as its highest aspiration is to have Kentucky resume its old place at the head of the Democratic council-board, in National politics, a leader and law-giver, and not a follower—no effort will be spared by it to give effect to that popular volition, that trend of enlightened and conservative movement, to which we owe our redemption from embittered factionism, with its incidents of bigotry and tragedy.

Already the woods are full of Democratic aspirants. The State Convention which is to sit upon and decide the claims of these will have no lack of good material to choose from. It should go without saying that the Courier-Journal takes no part in any anti-convention contests. It will not favor one candidate over another candidate. Holding the scales as evenly balanced as possible, it will at interim wish well to all of them, in each instance hoping the best man will win. When the ticket is named, whoever composes it, it will do its best to elect it.

Inevitably we may look for a very active, perhaps an excited, canvass. Where there are so many places to be filled, rival interests, mainly personal, would under any state of case lead animation to the event. Let us hope that the several conflicts will be kept within the bounds not merely of decency and order, but of sound Democracy.

The Democrats at large, the rank and file of the people behind the aspirants, should take care of this. They should see that no personal interest is put above the public interest; that no individual pretension is allowed to excite and obscure the right of the organization to a clean bill of letting. If they do, we shall get together as in days gone by like friends and brothers and go to the voters who are to determine the final result equally triumphant and united.

With these few prefatory remarks, the Courier-Journal says to each and every Democrat, good luck and God bless you! All of us cannot sit in the high places. All of us may not get the capital prizes. But there is no one of us, how lowly his lot, who cannot be, if he chooses, a good Kentuckian and a good Democrat; sinking his own identity; when need be, in the general war; deaf to noisy factionalism, blind to selfish overreaching; the honor and fame of the old Commonwealth in mind and heart forever and aye!

Gentlemen, comrades, aspirants, we look toward you! Eyes right, bosom buckled, toes to the front, may each that fails pick himself up and fall in line! And so, let the battle go on!—Courier-Journal.

HEROIC NEWSBOY.

The little newsboy whose life was crushed out by an electric car on Park row, New York, on Thursday of last week, when offered a glass of whiskey by a police officer to sustain his ebbing strength, replied: "No; I took the pledge when I was confirmed, and my mother said I must keep it." It will be much obliged if you will give me a glass of water."

It is said to think of a young life so noble as this one being crushed out, but in his dying words the little fellow set an example that might well be emulated by thousands of young men and boys connected with newspapers all over the country. If, when offered liquor, every young man and boy would remember that the drinking of liquor would make his mother sorry if he knew it, he might have the moral courage to say "No."

William Rice shot and killed Nicho Jas. Hoperton, Town Marshall at Independence, Kansas county, Hoperton, after he had fallen wounded and dying, shot Rice three times, inflicting wounds that probably will prove fatal.

John M. Cranor, a Christian county farmer, dropped dead.

FROM INDIAN TERRITORY.

MOUNDS, I. T., Nov. 6, 1902.

Editor News:
Thinking that a few items from this section of the country would be of interest to many of your readers, and being a Kentuckian myself, I will venture to write a small bit of news.

I was born and reared near Columbia, but left there in July, 1892, and settled in Carroll county, Mo., where I resided until October of this year, when I came to this place.

As an agricultural State, Missouri, ranks among the best of the Mississippi valley. Her crops were the best this year I have ever seen in any country, consisting of corn, wheat, rye, oats and tame grasses. The land in the above named State has advanced in value $15 to $25 per acre in the past 12 months, which has caused a great many of the farmers to sell their lands and emigrate South and West. For fear I am getting off the subject, will write you something about the land of the Red man.

The Indian Territory is conceded to have more cosmopolitan people than any State or territory in the world. Her inhabitants are from almost every State in the union, and a great many foreign countries are represented in this small tract of land, but little larger than the smallest State, yet having the population of the largest.

Although set apart by the United States as the home of the five civilized tribes of Indians, Indian Territory is in truth the home of nearly every nationality of the civilized world. The early adjustment of Indian lands is making this even more so, as hundreds of people are coming every month from the different States to make their homes and fortunes in this land of plenty.

New railroads are being pushed across the country at remarkable speed. According to the report of the Dawes Commission recently issued, over 2,000 miles of railroad were constructed during the past year and the outlook for the present year is that the figures will be increased.

The Cherokee, Creek and Osage Nations are receiving the most attention from outsiders, and perhaps no other section of the country deserves receiving more attention. This section is the very finest of agricultural land. It is far enough south to remove it from the severity of the northern winters, but still far enough north to reach maturity and to produce in abundance and also far enough south to carry stock through the mild winter. At the same time it remains in the cotton belt, the yield of the fleecy staple being quite as great here as in any section of the cotton producing belt of the south.

This is not all merely a speculative claim but the honest farmer, the hard working mechanic, the busy merchant—in fact a representative citizenship of the cultured and more civilized states, Missouri, Kansas, Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska are sending the largest delegations, although the more distant eastern and Western states are sending many of their sons of toil to this land of the Red man.

Respectfully,
J. Z. REYNOLDS.

Commissioner John W. Yerkes turned his back upon his duties at Washington, and, with lance uplifted and valor down, hurried to the old Kentucky home, to help save the Court of Appeals to the Republicans and give a lift to the Republican candidates for Congress. He came, he saw, he spoke his piece and hurried back to Washington with a big disgust all over him. Mr. Yerkes had an ambition to again lead the Kentucky Republicans in the gubernatorial race. Man proposes, but the disposition of things are beyond us ken. Secondly, a man born of woman is full of trouble and he never knows what an hour may bring forth. It is said that Mr. Yerkes will quit politics and get down to legitimate business.

W. L. WALKER.

Come get your trees you bought from the Silver Leaf Nurseries. Call at the Hancock Hotel.

For Sale—3 acres of land and a good dwelling 2 miles from Columbia. Good spring near house. Will sell cheap. W. L. Walker.

The survey from here to Campbellville has been completed. The next thing will be the cutting of the undergrowth and trees along the line and making the road bed, provided this route is accepted.

John Edwards, of color, who lived one mile above Knifley, was killed by a falling tree last Saturday. He was felling the tree with an axe and it is supposed that the tree turned and he was caught under it.

Mr. T. S. Scott has sold the Burkeville Herald to Mr. Elmstrange, who will continue its publication. Mr. Scott and family have become residents of Green county and are located on their farm near Coburg.

A company of State Guards will be organized at this place. Permission from the Adjutant General has been given, and young men who desire to enter the Company should leave their names with J. McCossett or Herschel Baker, Jr.

Capt. W. W. Bradshaw is not only a friend to all the members of the Adair County News force, but he believes they are entitled to delicious fruits occasionally. Last Friday he handed in several bunches of very fine grapes. The Captain's kindness is highly appreciated.

Stutte & Tutt, real estate agents, this place, have a number of desirable town lots for sale. Last week Mr. Scott Montgomery placed in their hands a boundary of land lying opposite the residence of Mr. J. M. Russell. Half acre lots have been laid off and are now ready for the market.

Mr. W. T. Wilson & Son, who were doing a general mercantile business at Oak, Russell county, were burned out last Thursday night. They had no loss, and their stock of goods, valued at $2,000 and store-house worth several hundred dollars, were a total loss. Several young men were in the store about 9 o'clock at night, buying and smoking cigars, and it is supposed that a match, tossed aside, was the cause of the fire.

THE RAILROAD.

Prof. Abrell returned on Saturday from Campbellville where the survey of the railway was completed last Thursday morning. He says the report of the Engineer will not be ready for a week, but that several very important facts may be given to the public with certainty.

The distance by the Robinson creek route is eighteen miles from corporation to corporation and the whole line from the lot selected for the passenger depot here to the L. & N. depot is 19 miles. From E. W. Reed's lot to the one on which the Campbellville station will probably be built the distance is exactly 100,000 feet, or 1,000 chains.

From the place chosen for the power plant at Green river to Campbellville, nine miles, the grade will average not more than thirty feet to the mile, and the cost of grading will be $10 little as to greatly reduce the average cost per mile in construction. There are even miles at a stretch that will cost less than $1,000 per mile to grade. There will be no grade on the line heavier than 70 feet to the mile, which will make it easily possible to use a steam engine for the freight traffic if desirable.

The matter of the right of way is the most important. Only two or three land owners of considerable importance still refuse to make the concession. The indifference of the Campbellville merchants in general, and the down right opposition of a number of the citizens of our neighboring city is operating to increase the sentiment in favor of the route through Casey county to the Southern road. A move is already on foot to seriously take up the matter, to view the proposed route, and to ascertain what the citizens of Casey and Lincoln counties and the merchants of Cincinnati will be willing to do in aid of that route.

A CARD.

The time has come when those who intend to enter school for the ensuing five months must decide what school they will attend. Therefore it will not be amiss in me, as principal of the M. & F. H. School, to make a few brief statements about it. For the past half century the M. & F. H. School has been the center of education for the Green and Cumberland river country. Within its walls our fathers and mothers were educated and there many of us, the younger generation, have received that instruction which fits us for the duties and responsibilities of life although it has done much for the cause of education in the past. Yet we enter upon this fifth year of its existence with even greater usefulness. The enrollment now is larger than it has been for a decade past. Those in attendance are there for one purpose—advancement. The enrollment for the holidays for the term beginning January 5, promises to be the largest in the history of the institution. A corps of teachers will be in charge who will spare no pains to advance those who are in attendance.

We invite all who desire to prepare for college, or who wish to teach, or who seek a higher education, to enter at once.

Give us an opportunity to help you.

TYLER A. BAKER.

Every thinking person in Columbia should have heard Ed. W. K. Abrell's sermon delivered at the Baptist church last Sunday evening. He spoke upon the life and character of Jesus Christ, delivering a strong, logical discourse. There is a diversity of opinion as to whether Judas Abrell was the twelve apostles, but Ed. Abrell made it very plain that he did partake of the bread and wine. The speaker said that while he was at the table he did not commune because his spirit was not in touch with God. It was further stated that Judas did not believe that he had accepted the twelve pieces of silver that he would betray the Savior. He loved the son of God, and his idea was that nothing he could do would have any effect upon him.

There is scarcely a week but one or more young men of Adair or from some adjoining county take the hack at Columbia and start west to make their fortune. It is laudible for young men to want to come up in the world, but the question is can they do better on some other man's farm than the one that is owned by their father. There is no excuse for young men who are after work to leave this section. The lands here are up to the average and there are plenty to sell and to lease. Another thing, young men certainly feel more independent working upon the home place than they would were they hired to do the same kind of work at home. This country is all right.

A representative of the News was at Jamestown and Russell Springs last week. He found the people of the former place very much interested in the oil outlook for Russell, Adair and other counties in this section of the State. A foreign company with over fifty rigs in these counties in the near future and if there is oil below the surface it will be found. He found the business and professional men of Russell Springs getting along nicely. There was a good trade in town and "Uncle" Dan Wilson & Son were getting their share. They have a very inviting house in which to do business and handle a very large stock of goods.

Capt. J. S. Chapman, removed from the Greenville neighborhood last Thursday, and is now located on the farm, three miles from Columbia, recently purchased of Mr. Anderson Holladay.

Mr. Henry Aaron has purchased the Oud Williams farm in Casey county. The price was between thirty and forty thousand.

PUBLIC SALE.

I will offer for sale at my farm, on Cumberland river, near Stokes, Russell county, November 29, 1902, the following described property: One fancy saddle and harness mare, two saddle and harness horses, one saddle horse, two mare mules, 3 years old, two mule colts, two mule cows and two calves, 19 head of hogs, nine sheep and all of farinall tools etc. I will sell my farm privately, containing about 160 acres, well improved. Will sell on easy terms.

J. J. STOKES.

The last week has had but little in for the Lindsey, Wilson Memorial School. This is due, however, to the lack of effort on the part of the committee here. Nearly every member of the committee has been engaged in other matters and the school has been allowed to rest for the present. Mr. W. T. McFarland, however, made a trip to Russell county and met with sufficient friends to the institution to receive $100. The committee will run over its work this week and in next issue we can give a full and complete statement of the same. The names and amounts received will be published at an early day.

There has been a good demand for horses and mules at Columbia for several weeks and quite a number have been changed hands. Buyers from other points are here every few days. Stock dealers throughout the State are now gathering mules and horses for the Southern markets, and the trading will be so for several more weeks. There are three or four car-loads of mules now in Adair county ready to ship. Columbia is the best stock market in all this surrounding country. Hundreds of horses and mules changing hands every fall.

A large body of land lying in the eastern portion of Adair county, owned by Parker C. Hardin during his lifetime, was transferred to Mr. Oscar Bonta, of Boyle county, a few weeks ago by the widow of C. A. Hardin, deceased, who resides in Harrodsburg. The boundary contains 230 acres and it was sold for less than $1 per acre. Mr. Bonta was in Columbia last Friday and informed the News that he could get good timber off the land to pay for it.

Frank Wagnener sold on Anderson Holladay a combined grading for $100, and two 2-year-old mules for $90 a piece. He also sold to Dick Tandy a several head of 900 pound steers for $550.

The season has arrived when the small boys begin to lay up their nickels and dimes, preparatory for getting much sport out of firecrackers and Roman candles.

ASHES.

Corn gathering seems to be the order of the day.

Misses Bettie Humphress and niece, Miss Prana Christie, of Knifley, are visiting relatives here.

Miss Estelle Willis, who is teaching our school and Miss Ethel Cookey, of this place, visited the former's parents Saturday and Sunday.

Messrs. Robert Cookey and W. A. Humphress took advantage of the first day of the fair law was out and returned successful.

Virgil Knifley, Jacob Sherrill and Ruol Tucker, of Knifley, attended the singing at the residence of Robt. Humphress Saturday night.

Several of our young people attended church at Mr. Pleasant Sunday.

Mr. Lee and Annie Robertson, of this place, visited their uncle, Foster Ingram, near Cane Valley, Saturday and Sunday.

The singing at Mr. Robt. Humphress Saturday night was certainly an enjoyable occasion.

The pie shelling at the residence of Mr. Pickett was a success.

CORRECT FALL CLOTHING FOR MAN OR BOY.

The very next time you're in our city, we would like you to call and see us—Come get a little booklet on FALL STYLES any way—it's free for the asking—or writing. We want you to know what good clothing, furnishings and hats we sell, and how cheap the prices are.

MEN'S SUITS, $5.00 to $25.00.
BOYS' SUITS, $1.50 to $7.50.
HATS, $1.00 to $5.00.

CRAY CRAFT.

Farmers are through sowing wheat and are gathering corn. The corn crop is light.

John Lowe visited our merchants a few days last week.

The musical entertainment at A. G. Bailey's on Thursday night was largely attended.

Sam Pierce sold a mule to Geo. Redmond.

Larkin Dohart returned home from Albany where he bought a large tract of timber.

The school here conducted by A. O. Young will close in a few days. Mr. Young is a good teacher and we regret to give him up.

W. G. McKinley and wife are visiting relatives at Eunice.

Miss Sallie Bryant was visiting at Joppa last week.

Florence, the little daughter of Bob Dillingham is very low with fever.

Gill & Waggoner were here a few days ago buying cattle.

Misses Mary and Gals Hadley, Montpelier, were in Columbia Saturday and Sunday.

J. N. Murrell was in Columbia a few days ago.

There was a singing at Shilo on Sunday night conducted by R. O. Cabell.

BLISS.

Corn gathering is the order of the day.

Hogs are dying of cholera or some other disease.

Chas. Hutchinson and family, of Hutchinson school house, visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Flowers, on Butler's fork, Saturday and Sunday.

The prayer meeting was at J. K. Robertson's Wednesday night. A fair crowd attended.

Messames Cass and Annie Johnston were at the latter's daughter, Mrs. R. E. Taylor, one day last week.

M. L. Grissom is making preparations to build a fair sized barn, for a more convenience.

H. K. and Billie Walker, two of the best progressive farmers of Rocky Hill of Adams county, are doing down the old barn and put up a new one on the site, though on a different plan with the roof rising six feet higher.

Rev. A. L. Mell, of Gradyville, visited the News last week. Mrs. Grissom Saturday night.

Mr. T. B. Price, who has been living in your city for the past year has removed back. We are glad to optine that perhaps he thinks there is no place like home.

We are indeed very much pleased to note that Mr. W. C. Turk, who has for some time past been in a doubtful state of health, is regaining his health. We hope he may be back to his former self very soon.

Miss Lena Grissom, a teacher at Pickett's school house, was home Saturday week accompanied by Mrs. Lizzy Moss and babe, of Kemp. Her husband, Mr. Arid Moss, joined them later in the day for a visit until Sunday.

Messames Sue and Lizzy Grissom, Miss Susan F. Grissom and Masters Bruce and Horton Grissom, spent the day very pleasantly with the family of Rufus Price, lately.

Generally speaking, the number of hogs to be killed for home use, is comparatively small.

Glory in glory for the Lindsey-Wilson training school to be located in your city. It's about ago, with an invincible railway coming. Better times are almost in view.

STOKES.

Health in this community is good.

W. M. Long and family have removed to Long's Bottom, where they will reside at his father's old home. Their many friends regret their departure.

Marvin Vaughan, of Kendall, and J. J. Stokes, of this place, have purchased the Kern's mill at Monticello and will go into business right soon.

Mikel Bradshaw and wife visited Andy Meadows Sunday.

Rev. Woodbridge preached the funeral of Mrs. Alice Sunday at New Hope.

J. J. and A. L. Stokes went to Stanton last week on business.

A party of young people visited Berk's Island below here and reported a pleasant time.

Ed Stone, a hustling drummer of Monticello, passed through here Sunday.

Rosa Ocker, of Wayne, is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. J. Stokes.

OFFICIALLY DECLARED ALLIES.

After the persistent denials of Imperialist officials and their political upholders that Admiral Dewey ever treated the Filipinos as allies, it is rather surprising to see the government's attorneys submit a brief to the United States supreme court in which they declare quite the contrary to be true. This remarkable reversal of the government's policy is caused by the necessity of trying to keep Admiral Dewey and his officers and men from collecting the prize money claimed by them because of the seizure after the battle of Manila of a number of Filipino canoes and flat boats.

This is the language of the government's brief.

"As soon as the present libellant's force was able to land and establish itself on shore it entered into friendly relations with the Filipinos and provided them with arms for offensive and defensive operations against the Spaniards. To treat some of the Filipinos as friends and allies and to treat others of them as enemies merely because they happened to be in the possession of small craft which might be of use to the United States was certainly not a consistent course of action and should not be upheld by a court."

Neither is it a consistent course of action, for that matter, for the government to deny, as it has on all previous occasions, that the Filipinos were received as allies by Dewey, and later to declare that they were treated "as friends and allies." A supreme court decision, in accordance with the government's latest contention, would hardly please the champions of imperialism.—Philadelphia North American (rep.)

FELT SMALL.

The pompous man walked into the forest with a self-satisfied air.

"This is a great age," quoth he, speaking to himself because he knew he had an appreciative audience.

"Man is the king of the universe. He has solved all the secrets of nature and mastered the elements. This is the age of intellect. Man can do anything."

Suddenly the pompous man found himself surrounded by myriads of bugs, beasts and reptiles.

"Yes, man is a wonderful being," remarked the friendly derisive tones. "Pray tell me, what would you give for the secret of my ability to make light without heat?"

"O, King of Beasts," remarked the swallow in sarcastic tones, "what would you give to learn the secret of my ability to fly without muscular exertion?"

An eel wriggled out of a nearby stream and attracted the pompous man's attention.

"Pray, sir," said the eel, "I am an electric eel. I know you are far above me in intelligence, and all that sort of thing, but perhaps you would give a pretty penny to learn how I generate electricity without the aid of combustion or friction."

"Perhaps you would like to know how to grow in a new limb in case you lose one of your old ones," remarked the crawfish.

"Or how I see in the dark," squealed the mole.

"Of course you know how to sail against the wind in the upper atmosphere," said the buzzard with an accent of fine scorn.

"Wouldn't it be advantageous to you if you could walk with your head in any direction?" queried the fly.

With a shriek the man fled from the forest leaving all his pomposity behind him.

A Washington dispatch under date of October 29 says: Governor Brodie of Arizona, in his usual reports, renews the plea for statehood and makes the following explanation: "Under the Leland-Stansbury act the claims of Arizona for statehood are in litigation to be fully carried out and extended so as to inaugurate in the territory the first of the great irrigation systems under that action, action to rejuvenate the depleted forest area; increases in school facilities; in the salary of the governor; of the appropriation to improve the Colorado river and construct levees from Yuma to the Mexican line; to prevent the overflow of cultivated land by the annual freights and appropriations for purchasing sites and erections in Arizona. The governor places the total taxable property of the territory at $30,083,178.

Aaron Bell, while hunting, fell over a fence on the outskirts of Daguerre. The fall discharged his gun, and the young man's face was ridged with buckshot. The wounds are pronounced as fatal.

Dr. John Baker, an aged physician was found dead on the public highway in Christian county, where he had fallen from his horse. He was on his way to visit a patient and is supposed to have died of heart disease.

OBITUARY.

Brother James W. Atkins was born in Columbia, Ky., April 19, 1835; was happily married to Miss Bettie Spencer, of Greensburg, Ky., February 20, 1860. They were blessed with only one child, a son, who with his wife and little daughter live to mourn their loss.

Brother Atkins gave his heart to God in the morning of life, and united with Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and remained in the same until death came, October 15, 1902, when, we trust, God transferred him to the Church triumphant above.

He was much afflicted for several months before he died, but was patient, and expressed himself as being ready for his heavenly home, and he drew near the last river he was full of peace, and passed away, trusting sweetly in Jesus.

It was my privilege to live near him four years, and I can truthfully say that my intimacy with him did not weaken my confidence in his piety, but strengthened it. He was a kind, good man and had many friends. His wife who lives to mourn her loss, was very faithful to her husband, and though much grieved by his death she is full of hope, and looks forward to the glad day when she shall see her husband again clad in the garments of immortality. May God comfort her heart and bless the son and family and rennate all at last in heaven.

JESSE L. MURRELL, Lebanon, Ky., Nov. 7, 1902.

OBITUARY.

Brother Benjamin Bell Grissom was born in Adair county, Ky., December 6, 1830, and died at his late home, a few miles from Columbia, Ky., August 22, 1902.

He was first married to Miss Martha E. Roberts, December 4, 1851, by whom there were seven children. She died October 14, 1867; and he was married the second time to Miss Martha J. Montgomery February 23, 1868, by whom there was one child, a son. She died January 11, 1880. He was married the third time to Miss Martha S. Staples, October 24, 1880, by whom there were five children. She is still living and all her children, and five of his children by his first wife, the son by his second wife, making twelve children in all he leaves behind, while two preceded him to the spirit world.

Brother Grissom was converted when but eighteen years old, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and lived and worked for the same until God called him home, from labor to rest. He was soundly converted, and had joy in the Holy Ghost in that hour, and it was nothing uncommon for him to shout the praises of God along his Christian pilgrimage. He was a good worker in protracted meetings and led many to the altar of prayer and helped many struggling souls to give themselves to Jesus.

He believed much in having family prayer. He established an altar in the home of his father, who was deaf and dumb and so was his mother; and after marrying and going to housekeeping he had worship in his home regularly. He was indeed a good man, and though he, no doubt, had his weaknesses, as we all have, still he had the confidence of the people, for he showed in his everyday life that he loved God and humanity, and that his one desire was to live right and make sure in heaven. He was a good man in his family, and his children loved him dearly and delight to cherish his memory since he has been added to earth with his sorrows and cares.

He was a very hospitable man and loved to have his friends visit and eat with him, and perhaps no man in the country where he lived had more company than he and his family. He was a strong Methodist, loved her doctrines and her polity, but he was not narrow, but loved all Christians and was ready to labor with them for the salvation of souls.

He was much afflicted for a few months before he died, but death we believe ended all his suffering, and that he now lives in the tabernacles forever "I am sick." May God give his consoling grace freely upon his bereaved wife and children and give them a sweet reunion ere long beyond the skies.

JESSE L. MURRELL.

THE DELINEATOR.

To do justice to this number, which for beauty and utility touches the highest mark, it would be necessary to print the entire list of contents. It is sufficient to state that in it the best. Modern writers and artists are represented. The book contains over 230 pages, with 34 full-page illustrations, of which 20 are in two or more colors. The magnitude of this December number, for which 728 tons of paper and six tons of ink have been used, may be understood from the fact that it presses running 14 hours a day, have been required to print it; the binding alone of the edition of 945,000 copies representing over 20,000,000 sections which had to be gathered individually by human hands. This number of the Delineator is a daisy. Address the Delineator New York, N. Y.

The "Jim Crow" street car law went into effect in New Orleans Thursday. It provides for separate compartments or separate coaches for the blacks. The street car companies, being short of cars have hit upon the novel plan of putting in a poultry wire partition in each car and thus give rather a suggestion than a reality of separation. There is: penalty of $25, or 30 days' imprisonment for the refusal of any passenger, when told by the conductor of the requirements of the law, to obey. The people of New Orleans seem to be opposed to the law and many are treating it with contempt.

In response to a letter written by John Patrick asking that military protection be afforded him as a witness before the Breathitt county grand jury, Circuit Judge Redwine says he has caused an attachment to be issued for Patrick and will see that he has ample protection. Patrick says he was a witness to the killing of James Cockrell and implicates county officials in the shooting. He says he fears he will be assassinated if he goes to Jackson to testify. Patrick was in Lexington until an attachment was issued for him.

There was nothing in the result of the recent election to discourage the Democracy so far as the next Presidential election is concerned.
